

ALBATROSS

by Leszek Czuchajowski

.....
I adore my albatross,
when I surfaced the first time he wanted to attack me but I forgave him his mistake as a lover grants forgiveness
to her lover
because isn't he worth
falling in love?
black wings
the longest of all possible
bent down at the ends
catch the wind
do sail with them sailor
but do not disappear from my sight
because the next time I exit the sea
it will be only you
who is waiting for me
since which of the men
those chained to the earth bread eaters would be able to welcome me as you do?
