

NATT NOYES DODGE
1900-1982

NATURALIST, INTERPRETER, accomplished speaker, photographer, devoted husband and friend--all these are words that describe Natt to those who have been associated with him. While interested in many things, his greatest love was for the National Parks and Monuments in which he lived and worked the major part of his life. Beginning as a seasonal Ranger-Naturalist, he was later appointed as Park Naturalist, Southwest Monuments, and finally as Regional Naturalist, Southwest Region, with headquarters in Santa Fe, New Mexico, a position he held until his retirement. Known for his friendly wit and ever-present good humor, Natt left a wealth of great memories to his friends and family. A lingering illness finally overcame him in December, 1982.
