The editors of the Berkeley Planning Journal wish to thank the Institute of Urban and Regional Development (IURD) for its financial support in the publication of Volume 17. The remaining publication costs for this volume are covered by subscribers whose continuing support makes each edition possible.

We are grateful to Professor Cris Benton, of the Department of Architecture, for permitting us to use one of his amazing kite aerial photography images for the cover, and to Marianne Wyss for creating a beautiful cover design. Thanks to Karen Chapple for providing helpful advice as the faculty advisor for Volume 17. And special thanks to Kaye Bock, Graduate Assistant for the Department of City and Regional Planning, for her invaluable logistical and moral support, and to the members of the editorial collective.
