

CHICANA/O - LATINA/O LAW REVIEW

Volume 28

2009

CONTENTS

ARTICLES

- I COULDN'T HELP MYSELF – MY CULTURE MADE ME
DO IT: THE USE OF CULTURAL EVIDENCE IN THE
HEAT OF PASSION DEFENSE 1
Aahren R. DePalma
- RACE AND THE SHAPING OF U.S. IMMIGRATION POLICY.. 19
Donald S. Dobkin
- CHICANAS, CHICANOS AND “FOOD GLORIOUS FOOD” 43
Guadalupe T. Luna

COMMENT

- THE CHICANA/O LATINA/O LAW REVIEW: THE PLIGHT OF
THE IDENTITY JOURNAL 57
Jose Macias

Single issue: $25.00 (domestic); $30.00 (foreign). Published by the Chicana/o-Latina/o Law Review, UCLA School of Law, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, California, 90095-1476. Partial funding provided by the UCLA Graduate Students Association. Subscriptions are accepted throughout the year. When it was first published in 1972, the Chicana/o-Latina/o Law Review was the first law review in the nation addressing issues unique to the Chicano/Latino experience.

SUBMISSIONS

The Chicana/o-Latina/o Law Review has developed a reputation for publishing strong scholarly work addressing issues unique to the Chicana/o-Latina/o experience. For almost four decades it has recognized how common law, statutes, legislative policy, and politically popular propositions impact the Latino community. The Review publishes articles, student-written comments, and speeches.

Our editorial process allows authors to publish high-quality pieces. All articles go through several rounds of substantive and formatting edits. Our diverse staff is made up of members who are dedicated to the advancement of Latino scholarly commentary, analysis, and legal work. The Review offers a proper forum where innovative, timely, practical, and controversial viewpoints addressing law or policy issues relating specifically to Latinas/os and other people of color are expressed. The Review is committed to not only acting as a medium for academic legal, judicial, and legislative analysis, but also as a blueprint for scholars, practitioners, policymakers, and advocates in establishing a progressive agenda for our community's future.

The Review will give preference to articles under 25,000 words in length—the equivalent of 50 law review pages — including text and footnotes. We will not publish articles exceeding 35,000 words — the equivalent of 70-75 law review pages — except in extraordinary circumstances. We prefer submissions via ExpressO. Please note that if you are submitting via ExpressO, we do not send a separate acknowledgement of receipt; the only acknowledgement that your manuscript has been received will come from ExpressO.

If you must submit a hard copy, please mail your submission to: Articles Editors, Chicana/o Latina/o Law Review, UCLA School of Law, P.O. Box 951476, Los Angeles, CA 90095. Submissions should be type-written; on 8 1/2"x 11" white paper; and in footnote format following A Uniform System of Citation (18th ed. 2005).

Textual and citation form is in accordance with A Uniform System of Citations (18th ed. 2005).

Cite as 28 CHICANA/O-LATINA/O L. REV. — (2009).